Dxpediton Report

This was the 52nd DXpedition to Sheigra, the first being back in October 1985. It is the seventh time we have stayed in Mary's cottage in the far north-west corner of the Scottish mainland (the original DX holiday cottage used from 1985 to 2001 sadly still stands empty and unoccupied after 10 years).

The weather was mild and sunny for the first two days, a pleasant relief from the heatwave further south, but then it turned very windy with heavy showers, the strong gusts proved a challenge, snapping our African aerial on top of the hill. The second week was mostly dry and mild with a couple of glorious sunny days. There were a lot of sheep around but apart from occasionally bumping into the canes they did not cause any problems.

Deer attack! After all the problems with deer on our last visit in 2009 we were rather reluctant to put up a North American wire this time (it extends over the distant hills where the deer tend to roam at night) intending to use the loop instead, but that proved noisy on MW so we decided to run out the beverage after all. Although reception was disappointing with a lot of electrical interference, at least no breaks – at first! But during the regular aerial inspection on the Saturday, just before dusk, we found the North American aerial completely wrecked. From about mid point it had been pulled out of at least 30 canes, with about 100m of wire missing, all the way up a steep hill and onto the hilltop. Several canes had been snapped, and when the wire was retrieved (it was still attached to the last 3 canes) it was found to have been stretched by almost 3 metres! Despite this it still worked OK when reconnected. Luckily we only had one further deer attack (on the same aerial).

We commented in 2009 on electrical interference which remains problematic. A new source of interference this year was a strong white-noise of about S7 on the signal meter affecting the North American aerial almost all of the time on both MW and SW. It completely obliterated weak signals. Because of this we often got better North American reception off the back of the Middle East wire which was electrically quiet. The African wire was also prone to electrical interference of a different sort, possibly from a distant overhead power line which it runs parallel with – albeit over 150m away.

Although conditions were initially quite poor, reception gradually improved and by the end of the first week we were starting to hear weak Trans Atlantic DX after about 2200 and plenty of signals from Asia and the Far East peaking around 1600-1800 UTC. Reception continued to improve into the second week with excellent Asia/Far East reception. We were especially pleased to hear Radio Nepal for the first time, on three frequencies. North American DX was hampered by noise on the aerials although we heard plenty of stations mostly from the east coast. The weaker signals from more western North American stations proved elusive except on the last day when there was a later fade-out (around 10.15 am local time, over an hour late than previous days) with a few Mid-West stations being logged. We had hoped to hear Latin American stations on the tropical bands but conditions were not favourable to that part of the world though we were pleased to be able to log a good number of Central and Latin American stations on medium wave off the back of the Middle East aerial. Not much was logged from Africa but a definite highlight was GRTS Gambia on 648 kHz thanks to the frequency now having been vacated by BBC World Service. Curiously it was also heard best on the Middle East aerial, which helped null out Spain.

Of course, our listening over the two weeks also included shortwave and a selection of these logs are included separately below.

Notable mediumwave loggings or possible Sheigra Firsts are highlighted in bold below.
